Glazebrook Heads Food Drive Here

Col. Larkin Glazebrook has been appointed chairman of Mayor Fred Godwin's committee for the Carmel drive for the United Nations Appeal for Children, a two weeks' campaign to begin Monday for funds for the world's starving children.

The Crusade for Children originated on the United Nations Assembly floor and has the endorsement of the State Department whose figures show that five children are dying every minute of starvation. Locally, the campaign was jointly inaugurated by Mayor Fred Godwin, Mayor Dormody of Monterey, and Mayor LaPorte of Pacific Grove, who appointed David Gill, Pacific Grove attorney, as Peninsula chairman.

Col. Glazebrook's committee met at the home of Mrs. James Doud last Tuesday to formulate organization plans, at which time Col. Glazebrook announced a kick-off meeting to be held at Sunset Auditorium on Monday, June 14, at 8:00 o'clock. Representatives of religious, civic and patriotic organizations, and all interested individuals, are asked to be present in order to co-ordinate the fund-raising Crusade for Children. The war documentary film, Seeds of Destiny, graphically portraying the problem, will be shown. Col. Glazebrook urges that all who can assist in the campaign attend the meeting.

The local campaign will be of two weeks' duration and was preceded by an organizational meeting held last Wednesday in Monterey, when the following local people were asked to serve in the Peninsula organization of the Crusade:

Dr. Remsen Bird, M. C. Jenkins, Mark Raggett, James H. Cook, Father Michael O'Connell, Kenneth Ray, Rev. A. B. Seccombe, Maj. Gen. E. G. Chapman, Harrison Godwin, Noel Sullivan, and

Musical Art Club's Student Concert Monday Evening

On Monday, June 14, at 8:00 p. m. at the Carmel High School music room the Musical Art Club will present an artistic event which, over the past four years, has become an important feature of the musical life of the community, especially for talented young musicians. This is the annual students concert, a recital by carefully chosen students from nine to 20, whose work is of a sufficiently high standard to give pleasure to others than their families and teachers. The concert is open without charge to members of the club, their guests and guests of the artists.

Miss Angie Machado, program chairman of the club, has arrang-

Council Bans Parking On East Side Of Scenic

Parking on the East side of Scenic Road between Ocean and Santa Lucia was prohibited by the council in a resolution designed to alleviate week end traffic jams and to allow access by fire equipment to homes along the beach. This is a trial arrangement, Mayor Godwin pointed out, to ease the situation until a further study can be made, and was passed immediately to relieve traffic on the July 4 week end.

Emergency beach telephones are more of a nuisance than a convenience, being out of order most of the time due to vandalism, Commissioner Craig stated. Originally connected with the police department in the days before posting of "Unsafe for Swimming" signs, they are a source of continual frustration to the Fire Department, where the lines now terminate. "Every

Class Of 1948 To Receive Diplomas At Sunset Tonight

In white caps and gowns 76 Carmel High School seniors will receive their diplomas from Superintendent Stuart Mitchell at graduation exercises tonight in Sunset Auditorium at 8:00 p. m.

John Blinks is salutatorian, Peggy Riker, valedictorian. Music will be provided by the school orchestra, a string trio of senior students, and the graduating class singing in chorus.

An informal reception will be held in the patio after graduation. All of the community is invited to the exercises.

Craig Starts Fireless 4th Campaign

"It is dangerous to smoke in bed. Please do not do so. Carmel Volunteer Fire Department."

Carmel Volunteer Firemen began distributing printed cards with the above warning and request to lodging houses and hotels in Carmel last night, in the first move of Fire Commissioner Donald Craig's campaign for a non-inflammable Fourth of July.

"The town will be full of visitors over the Fourth of July weekend, and the records of our local fire department show that smoking in bed has been one of our major causes of fire. Our biggest fire in May was a rooming house fire caused by a guest's smoking in bed. The loss was estimated at $1,200," Craig told The Pine Cone.

The cards, printed at city expense and distributed through the courtesy of the volunteer firemen, are to be displayed prominently in all rooms occupied by transients. The firemen will devote their Thursday meeting nights until the Fourth of July weekend to distributing the cards, but if any houses accommodating overnight guests are missed, the proprietors are asked to call at the fire house to get their cards.

"I am depending on the proprietors for co-operation in this campaign, in placing the cards in the rooms when they are delivered and in calling for cards if the firemen miss them. I anticipate that this campaign will be welcomed by the hotel and rooming house owners when they realize that it is aimed at one of our most prevalent causes of fires," Craig said.

Ferrante Calls Subcommittee Meeting Wed.

Peter Ferrante, who was appointed co-ordinator for the fact finding sub committees to the local redistricting committee this week, is calling a meeting Wednesday night at Sunset School library. The sub committees already appointed, Carmelo School and Pacific Grove, will be asked to attend as will be various "key" people of the several communities whose assistance will be required by E. M. Seifert, local redistricting committee chairman, in appointing fact finding sub committees for each school district. This will not be a public meeting.

Ferrante, in discussing his appointment as co-ordinator, said that he was asked by Seifert to sit in on sub committee meetings when the committees required his assistance and to call meetings of the sub committees together from time to time so that they could pool information and gather a picture of the redistricting problems for the entire area as well as the problems that affect their own community.

"We are all prejudiced, I think," said Ferrante, "but we are required by law to furnish the redistricting committee with all the facts and figures it requires to come to a decision and make a recommendation. I think the committees for the various communities can go about their fact finding assignment objectively."

TWIN BILL AT SUNSET TOMORROW NIGHT

An attractive softball dish is prepared at Sunset Field tomorrow night when the colorful Boys' Club Midgets tackle the Castroville Juniors and the rampaging Pine Cone nine squares off against the PSEA club from Salinas. The small fry edition of the Don Castros is reported to display the same softball savvy exhibited by the powerful Dons and will threaten the unbeaten-untied record of the Carmel Midgets. The local sprouts are riding a nine game winning streak and will be all out to hit the ten mark. Johnny DeAmaral will serve them up for the Boys' Club with Dan Canahan behind the bat.

In the 8:30 feature tilt, the visiting Salinas team will be seeking revenge for the defeats suffered by other visiting teams from the lettuce city. The Pasco, Todds Chevron, and 20-30 Club nines have lost to the Pine Cone in recent games and the locals mean to add the PSEA to their list. Ky Miyamoto will toe the slab for the Pine Cone while Joe "How I Hit 'Em" Nicholson handling the slants from the catcher's spot. Joe is in the throes of a terrific hitting streak which threatens to put him in the .400 slugging class.

PINE CONE CLUBS SALINAS TODDS, 7 TO 4

Behind 4 to 1 going into the fourth frame of Monday night's clash with the Salinas Todds, the Pine Cone exploded in that inning to smash across 5 markers and sew up the contest. The visitors teed off for a quartet of scores in the initial heat when they combed Huffman's best offerings for 5 solid pokes. Jay settled down after the first canto and held the Chevron boys scoreless until relieved by Miyamoto in the fourth inning. Ky put the damper on the visitors for the rest of the contest and after the big fourth the locals coasted in for the victory. Bobby Bell provided the potent poke for the Pine Cone when he smashed a roaring home run with two mates aboard. Bob has been connecting with plenty of power in the last few games which is welcome news for local softball fans. Joe Nicholson continued his torrid hitting pace by collecting a brace of blows in three attempts. With Bell, Nicholson and Miyamoto all clubbing the ball for distance the run famine appears to be over for the paper boys.

BOYS' CLUB IN DOUBLE SOFTBALL WIN

The Carmel Boys' Club Varsity broke into the win column and the Club Midgets ran their win streak to nine straight when they clubbed the Mission Bakery and the New Monterey Midgets, respectively. Both games were close and both were decided in the final inning. The varsity defeated the Bakery, 9 to 8, and the Midgets eked out an 8-7 win over the New Monterey sprouts. Phil Wettengel provided the bat fireworks for the Boys' Club varsity when he clubbed out 3 hits in 3 times at the dish. Phil also scored three runs to lead his mates in that department. Bob DeAmaral, Newt Goodrich, and Lee Winslow hit 2 for 3 to push Wettengel for hitting honors.

In racking up their 9th straight triumph, the Midgets had to make good use of the home run signal. Don Canahan, Midget catcher, connected for the payoff clout when he picked out one of Casas' fast pitches and deposited it well over the left field fence. Don had a perfect night at the plate with 2 blows in 2 attempts.

Playing for the Boys' Club varsity were: Lee Winslow, Bob DeAmaral, Newt Goodrich, Phil Wettengel, Murrey Wight, Tom Perez, Perry Brown, Howard DeAmaral, and Ron LeVaun. Midget players: John DeAmaral (pitcher), Henry Overin, Henry Meyers, Herman Menezes, Bob Updike, Don Canahan, Myron Branson, Bob Laugenour, Paul Ricketson, Paul Artellan, Bob Black, and Bill Daniels.

Kuster Gives Masterly Reading Of Lead In Counsellor At Law

By Mariquita Derby Brey

Why should one be a first-nighter? The answer is easily found for one who was part of the audience at the opening of Counsellor-at-Law at the Golden Bough Playhouse last Monday evening. If all theatrical productions flowed as smoothly during an initial performance as did this one, the question would never have been raised. Edward Kuster's direction and staging of, and his acting in, this Elmer Rice play resulted in a dynamic and finished product. True, there were one or two minor mechanical mishaps involving the lighting and the ringing of telephone bells, but the smooth acting of each member of the cast relegated them into the background.

Counsellor-at-Law is an unusually long play in nine scenes, but the attention and sympathy of the audience was held from the opening until the final curtains. All sorts and conditions of human beings are represented throughout the action — each one a distinct and vital personality—and each remains an entity within himself from first to last.

It is on the shoulders of the counsellor himself that the burden of the action falls; it is through the relationship between him and the other twenty-seven characters of the play that unity is maintained. Edward Kuster gave a masterly performance in this role. George Simon, counsellor, is a successful New York lawyer who has fought his way from the crowded tenement districts to a position of fame and power in legal and in political circles. Unlike some self-made individuals, he is completely unself-conscious; he is not ashamed of his humble origin. He is no less sympathetic toward those he left behind him in the social scheme than he is to those who inhabit the rarefied circle into which he has married. Every intonation, every gesture employed by Mr. Kuster in his creation of this character was harmonious, and therefore convincing. Never did this portrayal lapse for a moment. It was an outstanding piece of sustained and deeply sensitive interpretation.

The opening scene, in the reception room of the law offices of Simon and Tedesco, was a study in contrasts of characterization. A great cross section of metropolitan life was represented. Amid all the self-assertive and self-seeking hustle and bustle of the outer office, the two outstanding figures were those of Sarah Becker, portrayed by Miss Helen Lane, and Bessie Green inimitably acted by Barbara Norberg. The patient dignity, the anguish of the peasant mother as Miss Lane portrayed her was superbly done; a rare bit of artistry. Miss Norberg was equally fine in her role; she has an unusual sense of comedy. It would have been very easy for her to have stolen the show, but she has too good a dramatic sense for that.

Two other fine impersonations must be mentioned, that of Miss Dee Olivetti as Lena Simon, the counsellor's mother, and that of Kenneth Smith as Charles I. McFadden who does under-cover work for the firm of Simon and Tedesco. Both of these actors gave memorable performances.

The brisk tempo of the play was maintained from first to last. Perhaps it was their endeavor to hold this tempo that led some of the actors to speak too rapidly and become almost inaudible at times. This will doubtless be remedied at later performances when all are a bit surer of their characterizations, but in spite of a lost line now and then, the audience was stimulated every moment.

The younger actors of the piece, Geoffrey Newcomb and Nancy Wooliever as the bratish Dwight children, made one feel that the injunction of the Bible to "spare the rod and spoil the child" had been ignored in their upbringing. Their scorn of the hired help was manifest as well as their contempt for their step-father, the counsellor.

One of the charming features of a Kuster production is to be found in the opportunity given to so many high school and college students for dramatic experience. Judith Campbell, James McNeil and Roland Newcomb each made the most of his part.

Yes, Counsellor-at-Law was a most rewarding experience, from the absorbing play, the stage settings to the sensitive interpretations of their roles by each member of the cast. Three more performances are scheduled for the evenings of June 14, 21, and 28, which is a fortunate chance for those individuals who were not part of the first night audience.

time the phone rings, we know it will probably be some drunk calling a taxi," the commissioner said. The phones are to be removed by the end of September, 1948, in a resolution passed by the council. Commissioner Ricketts added that in 500 calls from the beach, only one has been an emergency, and that almost all bona fide emergency calls come from residents on Scenic Road.

To limit unsightly displays of wares in the business district, an amendment to the ordinances was passed, stating: "No property in district C-1 shall be used for display or offer merchandise for sale, except in connection with or as incident to a regularly established retail business conducted on a building on the same property, unless such use is authorized by a Use Permit issued by the Planning Commission, after a public hearing."

Other business transacted included approval of a $360 outlay in the Fire Department for the purchase of a floor waxer and 40 chromium firemens' badges; a resolution appointing Ernest F. Thiele to the police department as extra patrolman for the summer; and the approval of the opening of Casanova Street between Palou and Fourth Avenue, as soon as estimates can be prepared for submission to the property owners in the area.

ed a well-balanced program, comprising vocal and instrumental music, ensemble playing and dancing. Many of the young artists have appeared on previous programs of the club, on which occasions their merit and right to a respectful hearing have been proven. This year their further development will be noted with interest. Among these well known favorites are Basil Allaire, violinist; Robert Jensen, tenor; Joy Wilkinson, soprano; June Kocher, pianist; and Patsy Canoles.

Among less familiar artists will be: John Catalano, clarinetist of Monterey High School, who received very high rating in a recent statewide high school music festival. He also plays with the Monterey County Symphony. Another newcomer is Kenneth Copsey, a student at Pacific Grove High School, who will perform the Andante from the First Mozart Piano Concerto. Hilary Carnson, cellist with the ensemble, also appears for the first time. Leon Panetta, aged nine, a pianist, is accorded a place on the program despite his very early age because of really outstanding musical promise that has surprised seasoned critics.

Parents Honor Teacher In Letter To School Board

Mrs. Marcia De Voe, kindergarten teacher at Sunset School, received an unanimous testimonial from parents of her pupils in a letter read at the regular meeting of the Carmel Unified District school board Tuesday night. Signed by parents of each student in her classes, the letter commended her untiring efforts and profound understanding of the kindergarten age child.

Army personnel, carpenters, doctors, and real estate salesmen were listed as the largest occupational groups of fathers of Carmel High School students, in a survey submitted to the board by Harlan Reyburn, boys' vice principal, and Dorothy Wright, girls' vice principal. Other groups included writers (4), civil service employees (6), architects (3), and artists (2). Largest groups among mothers were clerks (12), nurses (7), secretaries (7), saleswomen (4), and waitresses (4). Fifty-two families were listed in which both father and mother work.

Fluorescent lighting will probably be installed in some rooms at Sunset School for the coming year, Superintendent Mitchell announced. "I have gone through the rooms with a light meter," he said, "and in some areas the reading was 5 on the scale where it should have been 30." Fluorescent fixtures, he explained, will provide a more efficient source of illumination without the necessity of installing new wiring, an expensive operation.

A final revised salary schedule for non-certified employees, calling for a flat increase of $400 per year and overtime payment at the rate of $1 per hour, was submitted and approved by the board. The overtime rate is to apply to all extra time spent in school activities, with the exception of P. T. A. functions.

An additional $408.66 in contract costs for the new rooms being added to the High School, involving minor changes in construction and equipment, was presented in a letter from Kump and Co., and approved.

Other business included the adoption of 4 new text books for the high school (American History, Drama, Chemistry and Senior Problems), a school sanitation report, and the approval of an agreement for the use of the Howden swimming pool for the summer recreation program.

Buoyant answer to Back Road and Boulevard

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

REMEMBER that rough patch of road up yonder where the ruts and ridges make a washboard seem smooth?

Recall the tiring tenseness brought on by the drum and hum of road noise and tremor even over smooth concrete highways?

Well, clock away the miles in this stunningly styled Buick — and meet up with the sweetest answer to such matters this side of cloud cruising.

"It's a ride that's soft and smooth as velvet," folks tell us. And we tell them it comes from a host of things.

It comes from the ample roadweight of a two-ton car built low and wide — and so beautifully balanced it handles light as a baton.

It comes from the leveling buoyancy of Buick's all-coil springing which puts a pillow of deeply coiled steel at each wheel to soak up the bumps and ripples.

It comes from the softness of bigger, lower-pressure tires that cushion away road tremors and roughness — from the sure-footed, swerve-free steadiness of Buick's extra wide Safety-Ride rims, widest in the industry.

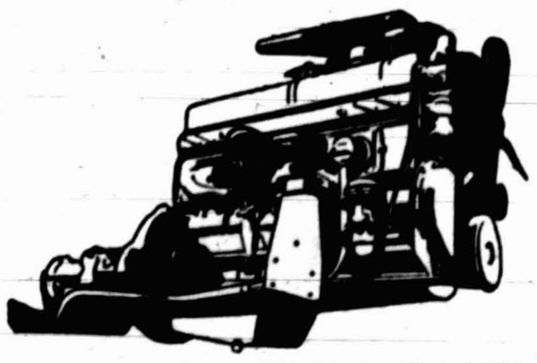
And it comes in special measure from a brand-new engineering gem we call Vibra-Shielding which banishes vibration build-up.

Here for the first time you're freed from the motoring fatigue brought on by tiny tremors piling up into bigger ones. Here your miles are made moss-smooth and quiet — long journeys become mere jaunts.

So why delay knowing the most buoyant answer to any road you ever traveled?

Come visit us now. Know at first hand the distinctive styling, the flashing action, the velvety ride over highway and byway that are Buick's and Buick's alone.

Then follow your heart's desire and get your order in promptly. We'll take it in proper sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.



REASON FOR THE VIBRA-SHIELDED RIDE

Placed with scientific exactness, 3 fat cushions of special composition cradle the engine so as to control its vibration frequency. Engine vibration is thus kept "out of tune" with those that might come from other parts of the car. The result is to shield car occupants against tiring pulsations, cut road noise, make engine sensation almost imperceptible and motoring practically fatigue-free.

Old Timers Recall Rehearsal Fun As Heron Starts Casting

On Sunday afternoon a large and enthusiastic group of actors met at Carmel's Forest Theatre to read for parts in the forthcoming productions of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream and Romeo and Juliet, under the direction of Herbert Heron.

The revival of the Shakespeare Festival after the war years, with the renewed interest of many residents, stirred the older participants to recall the pleasures and hard work of past productions. Jokes and reminiscences filled the intervals between the stage readings, and the many newcomers learned of the charms and good times of the weeks of preparation for the actual performance.

The Forest Theatre is the ideal setting for the production of Shakespeare's plays. The large, well-planned stage allows room for the freedom of movement so necessary in the presentation of these great comedies and tragedies. And the natural beauty of the setting among the pines, with the soft wind sighing through their branches, and the stars overhead (and sometimes a moon) will lend the final touch of authenticity and enchantment to these beautiful plays.

A Midsummer Night's Dream is the first to be given on Friday, Saturday and Sunday night, July 2, 3 and 4, and there is opportunity in this play for children and grown-ups to join in the fun of working together to create a moving and compelling performance.

The hours given to rehearsals are not all work. Anyone who has participated in the Forest Theatre activities will agree that there is a spirit of friendship which grows among the cast while working toward a common goal. Old friends renew their associations and new friendships are made.

Mr. Heron was very much pleased with the response to the first rehearsals, and urges all who have the wish to participate in these delightful hours to come up and take part. There are still some roles not definitely assigned, and there is much to do on the production staff. Anyone interested in helping with the stage sets, properties, costumes, and the many other needs of a big outdoor production can be offered some interesting work, with the accompanying good times.

Exciting Vacation Travel Club Starts At Carmel Library

Children entering the fourth grade or any higher grade may join the Vacation Travel Club at the library, Elizabeth Niles, head librarian, announced this week. Beginning June 7, the summer program will take each youngster on a tour of the world by airplane, his position being marked on a large map in the juvenile room. Literary travelers will be issued a passport, in which is recorded the books read, and a paper airplane which will indicate the countries visited. The price of a ticket to any country is reading one book about that country. Those who do not have library cards are urged to apply at once, Miss Niles said.

A colorful display of pre-war travel posters may be seen in the juvenile room by children applying for passports. These mementoes of happier days in Europe were found in the library basement, where they have been lying under heaps of books and magazines for the past ten years.

Peggy Riker Wins AAUW Scholarship

Margaret (Peggy) Riker of Carmel, Patricia Pinkston of Pacific Grove, and Patricia Foster of Monterey were presented certificates entitling them to the three $150 scholarships awarded this year by the American Association of University Women, Monterey Peninsula Branch, at the tea given last Saturday afternoon in honor of the girls from the three high schools who made membership in the California Scholarship Federation. Selection of the winners was made by the faculty committees of the schools.

Mrs. Gordon M. Beall, past president of the society at whose home the tea was held, made the presentation in her charming garden toward the close of the social gathering before some three score members and their high school guests. In addition to the girls previously listed were Jean Stevenson and Mary Taralla of Monterey. Additional young daughters of A. A. U. W. members who assisted in serving the tea were Sheryl Youngman and Willa Sharp. Members of the executive board were hostesses with Mrs. Beall.

Officers and committee heads for the coming year are Mrs. Norman Naas, president; Mrs. Thor Krogh, vice-president; Mrs. Carl Albertus, secretary; Miss Marie Schatz, treasurer; Mrs. J. O. Tostevin, social secretary; Miss Gertrude Rendtorff, chairman scholarship committee; Mrs. Douglas Martz, Miss L. L. The Time Has Come . .

By Kippy Stuart

New hybrids are interesting. The All American Awards in roses have produced some outstanding varieties, such as The Peace Rose and the Charlotte Armstrong rose. One usually expects these awards to be won by perennials, yet the All American Awards in annuals are equally interesting. This year, the 1948 All American went to the Cosmos family. The new Radiance Cosmos is something to look upon. The color is a deep rose overlaid with a well defined zone of rich crimson. The giant flowers are three to four inches across and the broad, overlapping petals are fluted. Formerly Cosmos bloomed only in the fall of the year. The modern California Cosmos blooms in mid-summer, ten to twelve weeks after seeds are sown.

The nice thing about cosmos is that seeds may be sown directly into the ground. No bother with flats or pots. The Crested Cosmos is also a newcomer. The Crested Cosmos will surprise those who are familiar only with the single variety. Some of the Crested Cosmos are single; others are double, have crested centers with a wide ray of outside petals. The colors are crimson, pink and white. These new Cosmos do not have the old, spindly characteristics; they grow usually to a height of about two and one half feet and may be placed in the foreground of taller taller plants. The Cosmos should be planted in full sun. A good practice is to plant several lots. My system is to space these plantings a few weeks apart. This will insure you cut Cosmos for the flower bowl over a long period of time. A good showing can be made by planting the hyacinth type Candytuft with Cosmos. Both bloomers will be with you for a long time.

This year, along comes a new Zinnia. It is called The Fantasy Zinnia, and it is breathtaking. The Fantasy rivals the chrysanthemum, for the petals have the same in-curved form of the chrysanthemum with long, shaggy, twisted petals. This plant grows from two to three feet.

The Haageana Zinnia is another beauty. This flower's habitat is Mexico and it comes to us with the exotic coloring of that country. The Haageana flowers are about the size of the English daisy, double and semi-double. The color range peculiar to the Haageana is borrowed from the marigold, the gillardia and the chrysanthemum. You cannot define the exact colors; they run away from you before you can pin them down.

The Pompon Zinnia is on old friend. If you want plants about two feet high, plant the regular California Pompon Baby Zinnia. If you are looking for edging plants, get the Tom Thumb Zinnia. The Tom Thumb grows only four to six inches high with the usual Zinnia colors. This stury little Zinnia is a prolific bloomer.

One cannot come by these new hybrids locally. It takes time to market new seeds in quantity. To procure the seeds I have mentioned one must write the large seed companies. You know, those catalogues that send poor gardeners out of their heads with the promise of blooming gardens. It has been said that optimism will never die in the human heart as long as illustrated seed catalogues exist.

Dr. Billie's Garden

By L. A. W.

A friend reminded me the other day that a mid-season report would be in order. I suppose that is so but there are so many other things more worth while to think about than reports that I procrastinate—that last word, for instance.

Anyway, those Red Bliss potatoes that I persuaded myself to plant against what I thought was good sense are doing themselves proud. Got my seed back from the first three hills. That leaves 47 hills for profit. If the gopher doesn't find them we'll be sitting pretty. No income tax to pay on that gain, either.

The cold weather and heavy rains hit the peas right hard. Went out one morning to find the vines trying to fight off downy mildew. Seems to affect the peas inside the pods, too, because they don't cook up sweet and soft as they ought to. Just the same we are eating them with gusto and saying how much better they are than we can buy. Not that we are prejudiced, we just think that way.

The French Forcing carrots were pretty much of a flop. They were small, rough, a little bit tough and with very little good carrotty taste. Not one of them was bigger than an English walnut. Must be I have conditioned the soil in favor of the Danvers Half-long.

The spinach is all gone but it was a real success. Bess says she knows she has washed at least a half a hundred pounds of it. Could be, I suppose, but that would certainly be a bumper crop from 20 feet of row. Funny, she never thinks there is any too much asparagus although that is doing a big job of growing.

The Scarlet Runner beans are four feet up the poles and yesterday I saw a couple of pink blossoms peeking out from behind a dark leaf. The Kentucky Wonders are sending their first tendrils out to wave in the wind on a hunt for some kind of support.

A couple of weeks ago three of the onion rows began to show signs of maggots at work. Quick, Watson, the napthalene flakes! Probably some of them are saved but new rows will have to be started. Maybe I put some infected onion tops into the compost pile last year. Can't be too careful about that, you know. Experience is a great teacher, but look what her tuition fees are.

Have just given the tomato plants their second good soaking. The first, since setting out on March 29, was three weeks ago. They all look healthy and nearly all have blossoms on them. These early blooms are usually false ones, I find, and only one or two ever set fruit. Maybe these are a kind of trial flight, just to trick a gardener into thinking he will get early fruit. I suppose in heavy soil, adobe-like, this deep and prolonged watering would better not be oftener than every four weeks. My soil is so very light and porous that I have found it better to adopt a three-weeks schedule.

Broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower are all doing nicely, thank you. Have had three good heads of broccoli and several more are about ready for the steam-cooker. The purple cauliflower for some reason grows big plants before the head even sets. Could that be a sign of its royal blood? Born to the purple, you know.

All in all, considering the cold spring I guess the dirty gardener is doing all right this year. Lordy, lordy! What a water bill!

ART EXHIBIT

A talented array of beginners' portraits is being shown at the Seven Arts gallery, sponsored by the Carmel art shop. The painters are members of Kay Rodgers' adult education classes, and with the exception of three, they have had no art school experience before. One of the most striking of the portraits was by Ana Lisa, who blacked her entire background for dramatic effect, and gave the portrait some of the mystery and enchantment of the Mona Lisa. Amy Gould, Thomas Green, and Margaret Hotchkiss did outstanding portraits. Other students showing were: Pencilla Smith, Margaret Roeth, Cooky Crouch, Paul Hill, who showed a strong pastel, Dorothea Roberts, Virginia Wright, Lola Maskiewitz, Mildred Anderson, and Nellie Nicoud. The portraits are in charcoal and pastel, and are done with unusual talent, perception and skill. The show will continue through June 18.

RED ✚ NEWS

Mrs. Robinson Jeffers, recently elected chairman of the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter of the American Red Cross, has been working rapidly to set up an effective organization for the coming year. Dr. Remsen Bird has been named as head of public information, which is being set up to keep the public informed of the numerous activities going on through the Red Cross chapter, as well as to interest larger numbers of people in Carmel to participate in the many volunteer services.

The officers of the executive committee appointed were: Mrs. Ernest Morehouse, vice-chairman; Mrs. Rush R. Wallace, second vice-chairman; Miss Kathryn Bier, secretary, and Harold Nielsen, treasurer.

Those in charge of special services are: Alfred G. Fry, disaster preparedness; Mrs. E. W. Tucker, Junior Red Cross; Miss Jane Burritt, production; Fred Mylar, ambulance; Mrs. Isabelle M. Terhune, Gray Ladies; Paul Whitman, blood program; Mrs. Ernest Morehouse, home service; Mrs. Rush R. Wallace, entertainment and instruction, and co-ordinator for Fort Ord; Miss Helen Heavey, building maintenance; Ralph Knapp, nominating committee chairman. Dr. Yvonne Champreux is the medical advisor; and Eben Whittlesey the legal advisor.

The Carmel chapter is greatly interested in hearing from anyone who would like to participate in any of the above committees or in volunteer work in first aid, water safety, accident prevention, home service, staff assistance, nursing aide, Gray Ladies, production, publicity, Junior Red Cross, or in giving entertainment or instruction at Fort Ord. You may telephone 382 or call at the Carmel Chapter House for further information.

FLOOD VICTIMS AIDED

Many residents of Carmel have been sending contributions to aid the northwest flood victims, reports the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter of the American Red Cross. Checks received by the local chapter are being put in a special fund for disaster relief in that area. Many families have mailed directly to the Disaster Service Headquarters in Portland, Oregon, and Spokane, Washington, packages of clean usable clothing. However, the Red Cross reports that there is now a tremendous amount of used clothing on hand. Most clothing needs are met by orders given by the Red Cross for new clothing to be secured in local stores, thus enabling those in need to select the most usable garments and those of correct size.

Anyone wishing to make a special contribution for disaster relief may do so through the Carmel chapter, mailing checks to Box AR or bringing cash contributions to the chapter house on Dolores street near Eighth.

By Glenn Clairmonte

Challenge of the Unknown, by Louis K. Anspacher. Published by A. A. Wyn, New York, 1947. Introduction by Waldemar Kaempffert, science editor of New York Times.

One of the books in the Harrison Memorial Library which only five Carmelites have discovered is by Louis K. Anspacher, the dramatist who has long been a familiar of the great minds of his generation. He graduated from the College of the City of New York in 1897, earned his master's degree at Columbia University in 1899, and in 1902 began his career as a lecturer, which he has continued until the present time. His first play, Tristan and Isolde, appeared in 1904, and since that time he has published 28 other books and produced plays in England as well as in this country.

Challenge of the Unknown is a well considered and very nearly scientific document which examines the history of man's extra-sensory experiences as yet not reduced to a working hypothesis. Apealing for an open-minded approach to the study of the great body of material which has been variously interpreted as evil spirits, proof of life hereafter, natural phenomena beyond the visual range of the human being, and so forth, he outlines the growth of man's recognition of his own ignorance.

In one chapter Dr. Anspacher has done a careful job, with the assistance of the poets Joseph Auslander and Audrey Wurdemann, of canvassing the famous writers for confirmation of unexplained influences. Following that he has delineated the scientific discoveries which have opened the door for new tests. He makes a strong plea for a new system of evaluating the authenticated reports, claiming that in the psychological realm methods used in physical science will not disclose any useful knowledge. And then he traces the unfolding wealth of ideas presented by the philosophers of many ages, until he has carried the reader to the point of agreeing at least to listen to the evidence reiterated by scholars since 1882, when the British Society for Psychical Research was founded.

And finally he quotes—quite brilliantly—chapter and verse from the Bible to uncover the so far repudiated facts of clairvoyance and materialization. The student of Christian theology will find himself already accepting such concepts as the return of the dead, the prediction of future events, the reading of the past, telepathy and all other manifestations of the supersensory faculties accredited until now to the superstitious and the simple-minded.

The chief value of this monograph, aside from presentation of basic facts upon which the future student may operate, is its suggestion that the new philosophy needed for man's protection from self-destruction may stem from an inquiring attitude now. Proof of survival or at least proof of values beyond the material gains by which life is now measured can give a broader horizon, a longer vista. With an improved perspective man of today may learn to sacrifice the immediate hindrance to progress—may learn to choose the good of the whole as his own life-saver.

There is rising a strong demand for new reasons to believe in the unseen factors by which man can hope to continue as a race on earth, and therefore this signpost may arrest the attention. Any readers who are detached enough to hear the case for a maligned subject, willing to accept new estimation of their own intuitive impulses as well as to respect bewilderment of others who are visited by inexplicable sensations, will find this book of Dr. Anspacher's not only pleasant from a literary point of view but also revealing.

Have you read a new book that you feel is so good that you want your friends and neighbors to share with you the pleasure or information you derived from it? Or an old book that is dear to you . . . or a group of fine books on a special subject? Write 650 words about it for this column.

LAYUP-ANCHORAGE

Gray ships
Scarred and grim,
Chained in dank rows
Like humbled slaves;
Muddy tides of delta land
Fret at their rusting hulls—
A strange requiem.

Through fog and wind
Sun and rain
Comes the sound
Of the auctioneer's hammer
And a harsh voice—
"What am I bid?"

Gray ghosts
On each silent prow
Seem to be listening Waiting.

YEAR OF DROUTH

Alaskan summits, listen to our cry
And let its poignancy dissolve your snow,
That withered mountain lilacs will not die
While blizzards waste your archipelago!
Hawaiian mountains, lush with endless rain,
Give up your rainbows for Mojave blue
For just one day, that poppies on our plain
Might kindle gold your islands never knew!
At dusk, cold winds from dour Aleutian hills
Hold rendezvous with clouds from Diamond Head,
And on Sierra slopes, the whip-poor-wills
Sing their thanksgiving as the sky turns red.
A night-long rain cascades through every tree,
A gift of mercy from the pitying sea.

—Marcus Z. Lytle

FROM GEARHART

I see the land reach far northward: the low roofed
Huddled beach houses dwarfed in the sand dunes—
Ah vast,
Glittering ocean and earth, O tremendous Beauty,
How we avoid you while playing our soul-blinding games of War, peace, gold, lust, etcetera . . .

How we avoid God who are God's image-reflection,
While now the time darkens: the lamps of the wide world gutter, and man's spirit dims . . .

Now all seems great failure, save God and this beauty . . .
Man may soon perish: what matter:
A clean earth and heaven survives.

—Willis Eberman

Carmel Story . . .

By Daisy Bostick

Police Department—Chapter II

Carmel is still very much like the little village of the early days. The cops are supposed to be friends and helpers rather than enemies. They still get calls from San Francisco from Carmel property owners who ask them to turn off the gas at their homes. Old ladies call up and report hearing a burglar. When the policeman arrives he is apt to find a squirrel on the roof or a coon attempting an entrance after smelling a succulent bone in the outside cooler. Not long ago Chief Fraties found a mother deer and her fawn about midnight down at Eighth and San Antonio. He stopped his car and went to pick up the baby but she struggled and escaped with her mother. One night recently a perturbed female phoned that a murder was being committed in the house next door. A policeman arrived. Loud cries for help came drifting out from the neighbor's house. Upon investigation he found that the sounds were made by a radio running a mystery thriller.

Chief Fraties admits that their biggest headache is the traffic control problem. Next to that comes thefts in cars. He says rather plaintively: "Why don't people lock their cars?"

Juvenile delinquency in Carmel is negligible excepting for minor troubles with youngsters who experiment with sling-shots and bee-bee guns. The young people are most tractable and seldom does any minor fail to respond to the quiet friendly advice given by a kindly cop.

Earl Wermuth is the oldest police officer in point of service. He has spent most of his life here and has been identified with the department for about twenty years. V. J. Herdine is from Nebraska and was stationed with the Army before being called to police service here. Jack Bekander was in the Special Agents' Department of the Western Pacific railroad in Berkeley. Paul Rink was identified with the Merchant Marine in the Consular service in Panama. Andrew Del Monte was a business man here before becoming a member of the Department. W. W. Dufur is the Acting Chief when Fraties is absent. He attended the F. B. I. school in Washington last summer.

Arthur McEwen is the desk man. He comes from a long line of journalists. His grandfather was associated with the Hearst papers in the days of the great editorial writer, Arthur Brisbane. His father worked on the Call-Bulletin and young Arthur also grew up to be a writer. Came the war and his career was interrupted. He served three years in the Army. The fast pace of the city no longer attracted him and he and his little family came to Carmel, where he settled down with a job on the police force. McEwen has a card file on practically all the Carmel pooches, even to their nicknames, and is able to restore many of the strays to their owners.

If it were not for the sign outside, one might take the building housing the Police Department for just a little cottage in the Carmel tradition with its hedge and climbing fuchsias, which were donated, planted and are being cared for by Kippy Stuart. Artist Ferdinand Burgdorff took such an interest in the department that he made for free a plaque for the outside of the building. It is of bronze containing an etching of a pine tree limb and the words CARMEL POLICE DEPARTMENT. The boys are very proud of it and have fashioned it safely into the wall.

One of them said rather wistfully:" Our walls still look pretty bleak but we are in hopes of getting some pictures on them before long. And we don't want junk. We want some real paintings by Carmel artists." Just imagine any police department in the country wanting genuine works of art on their walls! Maybe some of the local artists will make contributions.

F. D. Brown will be camp director; G. W. Buffery, program director; Drs. John MacWillie of Carmel and Harry Lusignan of Monterey, medical officers; Hilary Helsley, waterfront director; the adults will be assisted by junior staff members: Billy Taylor, John Corson, Bob Roebuck, Dick Conzelmann, Mel Wilson, Dick Young, Jim Hitchcock, and A. Easton.

Scout Unification

The different district committees of the Boy Scouts in Carmel, Monterey, and Pacific Grove have decided that it would be a wise and advantageous move to group all the committees into one large district committee to retain the present committee members, and to be effective in September.

The Boy Scouts district committee and a committee from the American Legion are planning a conference from which the Boy Scouts hope to emerge with some definite plan for the improvement of the Scout House. Ernest Bixler has drawn tentative plans.

The smartly beautiful HARRIET DUNCAN shop is putting on another of its fine fashion shows at the Highlands Inn, June 23, at 8:15. Michel has prepared a special buffet, and after dinner HARRIET DUNCAN will present her casual fashions in the lobby. First, Provocative Playtime Accessories will be shown, then there will be an intermission in which Dorothy Dean will dance, then Sleepy Time Gal will have its run. Miss Duncan will do the commentary. You are urged to get your tickets early for this enchanting fashion show.

East meets West in the pure silk shantung Chinese pajamas now being shown at GUMP'S. The Oriental touch is fashion high, and you will wear the separate jacket over a long skirt to luncheon, to dinner, and play hostess divinely with frog legs down your bosom, and frog legs down the ankles of your pajamas. Colors like Oriental green, shocking pink, cocoa brown, and serene blue add definite style to the beautiful cut of the pajamas. The pieces can be bought separately and are excellent for 12, 14 and 16 sizes.

Breakfast from KIP'S who will supply all the essentials for everything delicious in the morning. Start off with luscious fresh apricots, or cherries, or peaches, topped off with wonderful cream from KIP'S refrigerators, then munch happily on muffins or coffee cake made from Duff's Hot Muffin Mix. With these muffins you must use Dundee's marmalade, which comes in its famous crock. So there you have a delicious breakfast, and all the ingredients assembled for you at KIP'S.

To really knock them out on the sand dunes, get into a Catalina swim suit from the GAIL COUPE shop on San Carlos street. You can sun bathe with four brown sharks swimming up your yellow suit, or with a long necked pink flamingo. Or how would you like a chartreuse suit with lattice work at the sides, or one made entirely in fantastic bamboo design. The suits are one piece, two piece, come in all kinds of materials such as elastic seersucker, elastic sharkskin, and a wonderful faille-like material. For being your smartest on sunny days, choose a Catalina swim suit from the GAIL COUPE shop. Phone 666-W.

True excitement in the Pocket Editions at EL FUMADOR. For the first time they are non-fiction, and the serious reader will find essays, philosophy, poetry, religion, marriage, Shakespeare and cooking, all neatly whipped up in Pocket Editions, perfect size for travel, for beach baskets, for tiny bad tables. Everyone unanimously agrees that the idea is good.

HOWARD'S in Monterey plays fairy godmother to vacationers, with the smartest luggage anyone would want to come to grips with. On train, on plane, on boat, you can go south with a Suntan Finish, or north with a Natural Rawhide Finish. Your smart traveling companions will have marproof, dirt proof miracle coverings, polished brass streamlined locks, gleaming finish and luxurious linings. From $17.50 to $35.00 you can have a ladies' overnight case, or a ladies' wardrobe, or any one of a number of sizes in between. So pack your smartest clothes in the smartest luggage available at HOWARD'S in Monterey.

It's still only the middle of June, which means that it's still wedding time, flower time. White lace, moonlight, romance and flowers, compose the June picture, and the FLOR DE MONTEREY is the big flower director in this annual production. They carry all the lovely spring flowers, and especially cater to your wedding floral plans. Even if you're not planning on being a June bride, this is the month to wear more flowers and have more of the lovely things about you; fill your rooms with them, wear them in your hair, pinned to your suits, and, one of the nicest innovations we've seen, is to wear camellias or gardenias pinned on a satin ribbon around your throat.

Girl and teen agers are now as fashion conscious as their older sisters and go to their summer camps and picnics garbed as chicly as any young model in Junior Bazaar. The GLADYS McCLOUD GIRL AND TEEN SHOP on Dolores street carries the smartest play clothes you'll ever see, with fine cut and the casual air which means great chic. Faded denims come in several styles, some with rivets; there are shorts, pedal pushers, jeans, tee shirts, long sleeved plaid shirts, and wonderful cotton cardigans of sweat shirt material to wear over shirts or bathing suits and eminently washable. Get your summer play clothes, girls, at the GLADYS McCLOUD SHOP, and when you sweep off to summer camp you'll do it in style.

Oil for the Lamps of China was one thing, and a good thing to boot, but oil for your salads comes closer to home and is one thing you have to be most particular about. When you come right down to it, it's the oil in the salad just as much as the lettuce that turns the whole thing into a work of art. The CARMEL DRIVE IN GROCERY MARKET has virgin olive oil imported from Italy with a guarantee on its 100 per cent purity. It comes in pints or quarts, and is the only golden liquid that should be poured into the wooden bowl, or used whenever an oil ingredient is necessary. Remember the CARMEL DRIVE IN GROCERY MARKET for your imported olive oil.

It's door closing time at MANUEL'S MEXICAN RESTAURANT where Manuel and Felicitas are taking time off for new additions (family.) Everyone is going to miss this charming restaurant where they've gotten such good service, such superb food, enjoyed such gay times and been received with such a delightful spirit of sympatico. The doors will close Sunday, June 13, but fall will bring happy times for some time around the middle of October, MANUEL'S MEXICAN RESTAURANT will open again, and we can dash over the hill to enjoy fine tacos, marvelous enchiladas, and the general spirit of Old Mexico. Buena Suerte, Manuel y Felicitas.

If you're giving a gift of taste to a man of taste, your father, you'll select one of the watches from the HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT for the watches have great style and a sure air of manliness. A Mathey-Tissot watch comes in its own case, is of tonneau shape, with raised bits of gold for numbers, and fitted into a hand made solid gold case. A tiny second watch swings golden second time; the watch strap is fine alligator. Then there is the Omega watch, quite similar, with alligator band, gold raised figures for numbers, and a golden case for the watch to beat time in. Make a gift of one of these handsome watches for Father's Day.

If you're going to live up to the most beautiful swim suits that have been designed and the most stunning summer play clothes, you are going to have to have an absolutely perfect figure. The STAUFFER SYSTEM on Mission and Fifth streets is the perfect place for real reducing and real summer stimulation. They'll shape you so finely you can wear one of the new tube bathing suits, and have such lovely shoulders and hips you can go strapless, tiny waisted, and even get away with a bustle if you want. The whole country's gone wild over the STAUFFER SYSTEM so it's time you got in there and got a little of the magic to go to work on you. And it's cheap, too. Twenty-five treatments for $25.00, or twelve treatments for $15.00. Phone Della Vanney for an appointment, 2101-W.

The Sun and Swim Club at the CARMEL VALLEY INN will have a fashion show around the pool on Tuesday, June 15, at 1:00 p. m. The clothes will be from the Eugenia shop in Salinas featuring California designers Ardan and Fleischman, and specializing in the new slimmer look. Models will be from Carmel and Monterey, and there will be a buffet luncheon. It sounds very gay and casual, so make your reservations in time. Besides a fashion show, all kinds of things are happening to the Sun and Swim Club; it is being re-decorated with new pool furniture, the showers are being re-finished and the dressing rooms are being brightened with new curtains and mirrors.

O'Keefe and Merrit ranges are to be found at WALDO HICKS' shop on Junipero featuring Low Temperature ovens. Pies, roasts and all baked dishes are more delicious when cooked at a lower temperature, it's also an easier way to prepare them and a cheaper way. And you can work miracles with cheaper cuts of meat, giving them the same juicy taste of more expensive cuts. Low temperature, too, means that you retain vitamins and cut on shrinkage. Another fine feature of the fully automatic model is the Grillevator which raises and lowers the broiler without pulling it out. Look over these wondrous ranges at WALDO HICKS' shop and see what a fine meal you could prepare with one.

And what do you think? Yes, they now have nylon bathing suits at BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE; they are lighter than air and like a bit of atmosphere in the hand. They'll feel the same way on, too. In fact, you forget you have anything on and feel all mermaid. They are made by Leeds in England, dry in a matter of seconds, roll into nothing and come in a variety of plaid combinations. They are two piece affairs, and if you've never had a nylon bathing suit, you should really try one and give yourself the wonderful feel of youth, when you swam in nothing at all in the old swimming hole.

Working as beautifully and functionally as a blow torch are the Beattie pipe lighters carried at the VILLAGE JEWELERS. They are bound in pig skin and make an excellent gift for a pipe smoking daddy. Other superb gifts would be a new band for his watch, a Ronson lighter, or, especially if he's a doctor or professional man, a miraculous gold pen that writes in five colors. All you do is press little levers and different ink colors come out. It sounds very handy and to be taken seriously as more than just a gadget.

Plans are under way for the opening of the MICHAEL FRANKE GALLERY which has as its master plan the fusing for display purposes of modern and traditional art work. The fine touch, unerring instinct and keen perceptivity of Mr. Franke will be apparent in the pictures he is choosing for his opening. Tourists will be interested in entering a gallery that will retain all the charm of old Carmel, and all art lovers around the Peninsula will be delighted with the new gallery. Watch for the opening of the MICHAEL FRANKE GALLERY.

Carmelites and Gourmets will remember duck days at SADE'S when wonderful Roast Long Island Ducklings were served along with orange sauce. Those days, we are glad to announce, are here again, and every Sunday afternoon you can wander into SADE'S and be served superb duck with orange sauce. This is a culinary treat as well as a special delight because you are eating in SADE'S which means excellent service, charming decor either upstairs or downstairs, and the mellow atmosphere which is a visible thing as soon as you enter SADE'S doorway.

Father, seated in his favorite armchair with his favorite pipe, would be delighted with a present of his favorite book, straight from the BOOK DEN at HOLMAN'S in Pacific Grove. While comfortably resting, he might like to read about his favorite sport, about tennis, or golf, or piloting, or hunting and fishing; he might enjoy books on technical research, or a new volume of sonnets to add to his collection. The James Thurber in his nature might want stories of great adventure in far off places, or he might be happier with a book of cartoons than anything else in the world. Whatever your father would like, you probably know all about it, and you can find just the right book on the right subject at the BOOK DEN at HOLMAN'S.

The PARK DRIVE IN, on the corner of Fremont and Lopez on new Highway 1, about one mile east of the Del Monte Naval School, is planning a patio for pedestrians where foot traffic can have a dreamburger too, and where weary tourists, parking across the street, can loaf and munch and stretch out. The patio, with its flowers and shrubs, will also make a pleasant vista for those who are enjoying the car service of the PARK DRIVE IN. The patio service will be for daytime only. But the PARK DRIVE IN is mainly car service, and the patio will be more for the convenience of those few who need a place to sit down and rest as well as a sandwich and soft drink.

June 18 will again see valley models parading through the Carousel displaying clothes from the EUGENIE SHOP in Salinas. The latest summer fashions will be shown, and you can plan your wardrobe as you eat delicious Carousel food and watch some of your friends play model. June is the perfect month for fashion shows; everyone is tan and ready to buy the most exciting clothes of the year which are always summer clothes. So make your reservations either at the Carousel or with the EUGENIE SHOP in Salinas.

A Saga

According to Mrs. Philip Nesbitt, Big Sur folk are building a saga around a Siamese cat who adopted a Persian kitten. It's a modern tale with psychological implications for the Siamese, having just been bitten by a rattler, was taking its poisoned self into the forest, desperately ready for anything; the tiny Persian kitten, lost and with no particular parents at all, was pumped to the hilt with insecurity complexes. The two cats met under the tall redwoods; the baffling predicament of each must have had a soothing effect on the other, for a great adoption took place, and the Siamese has been nursing the little lost Persian ever since.

FUNERAL SERVICES
OUR JOE

For poetic dignity and simple truth, these carefully lettered words on the door of the new brick and glass building at Junipero and Sixth surpass anything we might say today. For 26 years Joe Oliveira has been one of Carmel's beloved citizens. He made no speeches. He conducted no campaigns. He held no office. His was a contribution to the brotherhood of man.

Our Joe died Saturday.

There is so much to tell and so little to say. Much to tell because there is not an old resident who hasn't his own stories to recount of Joe's overflowing kindliness and sympathy, of honesty and generosity.

Born on the island of Fayal, in the Azores, March 17, 1892, Joe came to Newport, Rhode Island in 1912 with his sister Rose. He was twenty years old, and even then suffering from the bone ailment that later was to result in the amputation of one leg. Possibly searching for a land more like his native island, in 1914 he came to California. There followed a period of odd jobs in and around San Francisco. In 1917 he married Helen Muniz, today a resident of Oakland. They were separated about the time Joe came to Carmel, in 1923.

Working as a laborer, handyman, gardener, and truck driver for several years in Carmel, he established a reputation for dependability that resulted in his appointment to the maintenance staff of the Monterey Peninsula Hospital. Here he worked and lived for four years. In 1932, Joe started his taxi business, with one coupe parked at Dolores and Ocean; he gave 24-hour service, being driver, dispatcher, and mechanic, and apparently gettting a little sleep from time to time in the car. Later an office was established in the front of Paul Mercurio's barber shop, on Ocean near the library. He moved to the Dolores and Sixth location after the adoption of a city ordinance prohibiting taxi stands on Ocean Avenue. In 1941 he married Nellie Friedlander, who has assisted in the business up until the present time.

Early this year Joe took over his new building at Junipero and Sixth. Of brick, redwood, and glass, the depot and Carmel Valley Bus terminal (another of his enterprises) was designed by Jon Konigshofer at a cost of $50,000.

It was here that Joe suffered his last heart attack, on June 1. Taken by taxi to the office of his physician, Dr. R. A. Kocher, he collapsed as he left the car. The Red Cross ambulance operated by the Carmel Fire Department rushed him to the Peninsula Community Hospital, where he died Saturday after hovering between life and death for four days. He had been under Dr. Kocher's care for eight years.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Nellie Oliveira of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Norma Fletcher of Pacific Grove; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Frances of Carmel, Mrs. Rose Perry and Mrs. Diolinda Furtado of Massachusetts; and a brother, Sam Oliveira of Oakland.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the T. A. Dorney Chapel in Monterey, with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray of the Church of the Wayfarer officiating. Interment was in the Monterey city cemetery.

An Appreciation of Joe

By Fred Bechdolt

Every so often during these latter years an old timer slips away and we say that we have lost a part of the real Carmel. I have an idea that many will feel that way about Joe Oliveira's passing. And yet, if one reckons by the years, his name would not be identified with the village traditions for he did not come here until long after electric lights had replaced kerosene lamps and the four horse stage was a memory. Nevertheless more than one who has made much ado about village simplicity has contributed less real effort to sustain it than he did.

It is quite possible that Joe was not conscious of the part he played as a citizen; but one may be sure that he was definitely aware of doing his best to serve his customers as they wished to be served. By this sense of obligation to the public, with whom he dealt, he helped to keep the town liveable at a time when other communities were losing some of the decencies.

He was an unpretentious man. Until the last few months when his taxis moved to the new building, you would find him at most hours of the day sunning himself in front of the old stand on Sixth street, apparently indifferent to the comings and goings of cabs and drivers. But he had learned the ways of this little town. He managed a business which could have intruded on those ways, so that it fitted in with them.

He lived up to his responsibilities and for that reason he became part of our life — like the town bulletin board or the Art Gallery or the Abalone League. And we are going to miss him.

Fashion Show

For the first time since the series of Pine Inn fashion lunches was begun several months ago, Putnam and Raggett entered the fray with a smoothly done show of strictly summer fashions, mostly for beach and patio wear. Great credit for the finely managed, hitchless affair goes to Miss Dolly Long who dressed the models and got them out on the floor in perfect timing. The four models were Mrs. Margo Bauer, Mrs. Kay Drachnik, and Mrs. Betty Leslie and her daughter, Judy.

One of the interesting and new features of the show was a backless bra for bathing suits or patio suits, the bra curving into the back with wires and ending there with the total expanse of your back for the sun to shine on. To start the show off, two models appeared in matching outfits of the same material, one being a two piece sun dress, and the other a bathing suit. A mother and daughter duet was displayed next of yellow flowered bathing suits, each model carrying large bath towels, then a nylon elastic suit of pomegranate red, and a Hope Skillman chambray banded in gray and white with snug little elasticized top.

A particularly smart beach outfit was the gray backless halter and long shorts of bonanza cloth, and a pajama outfit was shown of pale blue nylon over which was worn a pale pink woolen robe. Washable mules called tub-ems completed the bedroom ensemble. Putnam and Raggett also have much interesting yardage and a sample of this, a small sprigged flower pattern with bands of yellow and white, was made into a perfect garden dress. The show closed with mother and daughter in blue denim jackets and pedal pushers and Americanized blue tabbies.

Mrs. Bauer's hair was stylized by Mark of El Paseo.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Who is this Man?

Now and then, in the pages of the Clarion, I run a biographical quiz, under the heading of "Who Is This Man?" For instance . . .

"He was one of the earliest lovers in American history...

"And yet he was too shy to court a woman outright . . .

"He came to the New World on the Mayflower . . .

"A cooper to repair the beer barrels accompanying the Pilgrims . . .

"Who is this man?"

I thought that everybody was stumped. But not Ma Hoskins, who returned the clipping to me with "John Alden" on it. She recognized all the clues—including that reference to "beer" and "cooper."

For Ma—who's read her history, knows that beer as the beverage of moderation, is as old in this land of ours as the never-ending American search for tolerance which brought the Pilgrims over to this country in the first place.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, June 13. The Golden Text is taken from Numbers: "The Lord bless the and keep thee: the Lord make his face shine upon thee: the Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace" (6:24-26).

Included in the sermon are the following citations:

I John: "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ" (1:3).

"Science and Health" with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The relations of God and man, divine Principle and idea, are indestructible in Science; and Science knows no lapse from nor return to harmony, but holds the divine order or spiritual law, in which God and all that He creates are perfect and eternal, to have remained unchanged in its eternal history" (p. 470).

congratulations to the Class of '48

On this golden day, standing at the threshold of life's most memorable year, may we bid you Godspeed and wish you a clear path down the ways of the earth. May you pass by safely the brambles of indecision and circumvent the twin dragons of sloth and cupidity.

May you learn to look upon your neighbor as an image of yourself, and as a fellow traveler whose fears and dreams are your fears and dreams, though his ways be foreign to you. May you come to find at last the as yet unrealized true fraternity of man, which shall be the salvation of the earth.—Adrestus.
